LOS JARDINES INSTITUTE

MOVE THANG

Harvested June 2, 2023
inspired by a photo
taken by Julietta

WE SPEAK FOR OURSELVES.

REMEMBER WHERE YOU COME FROM

REMEMBER WHOSE SHOULDERS YOU STAND ON.

REMEMBER TO GIVE BACK TO THE COMMUNITY.

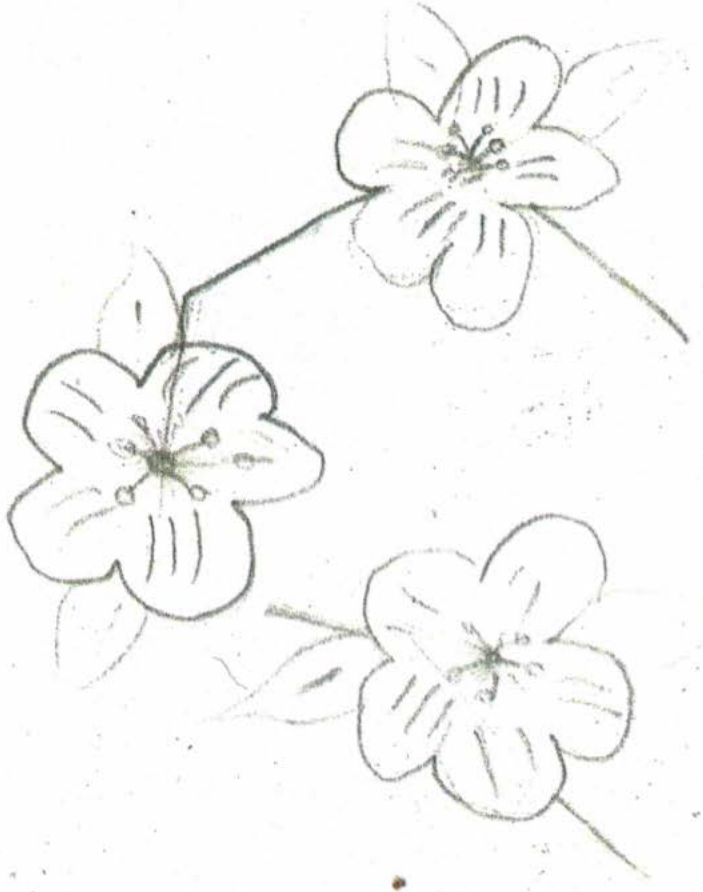
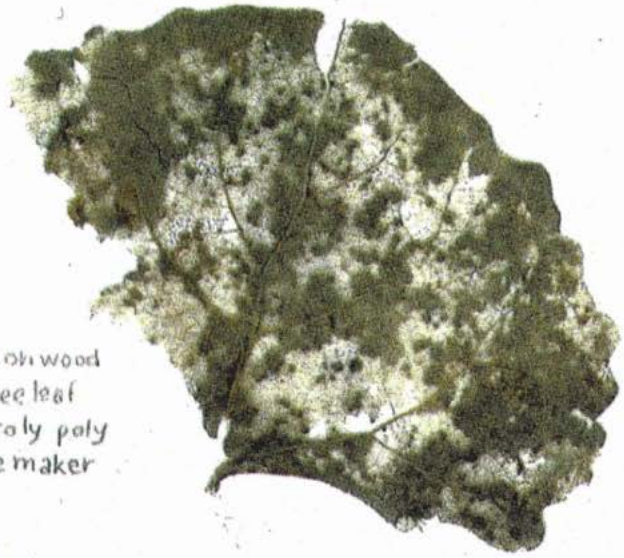
beings (seres) ; huerta (farm) ; sentipensares (thought-feelings) ; tierra (earth) ; bienvenida (welcome)





cottonwood
tree leaf
by araly paly lace maker

gente (people); cuentan (tell); espíritus (spirits);
saberes (knowledges)

We are glad to share this encuentro with you, the plantas and beings growing with the huerta and the flow of the Río Grande.

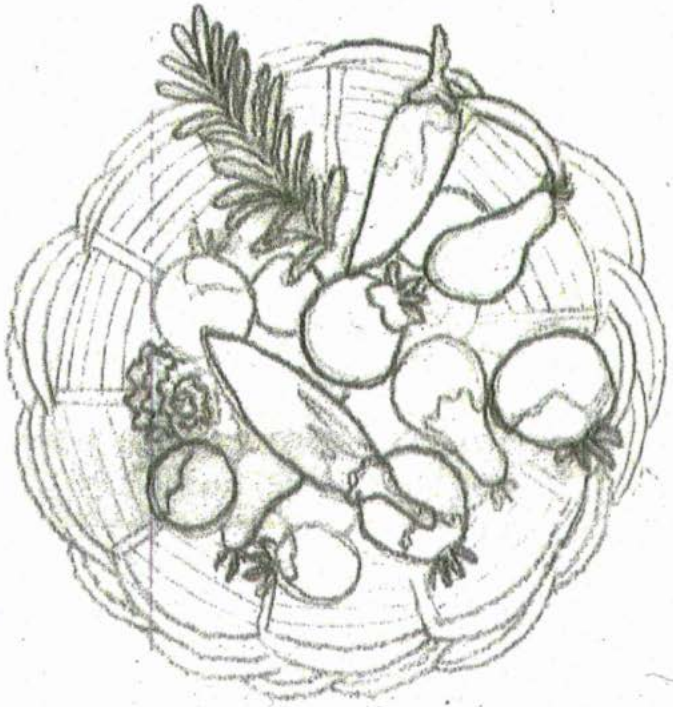
Este mini zine gathers scores, drawings, sentipensares (thought-feelings), sounds, and dreams from our days juntas in the South Valley. This zine is also a bienvenida to our dance practices, an invitation to move with us, listen to the huerta's stories, and tune to La tierra's cycles.

We hope it will keep you company as you move within your comunidad

We are attentive to the impacts of toxicity in this neighborhood and thankful to Los Jardines Institute as a healing and creative force in our community and beyond.

losjardinesinstitute.org

Harvested
August 28, 2023



Colaboradoras Abba Anebana, Jennifer, Francine, Val, Alex, Dakarai, Julietta, erik, Brooke, Avery, Maria, Kayla

and the garte that make the strong connections and cuentan the stories- Laurel, Xavier, Sofia, Richard, the peachand plum trees, the library and espiritus in the alter and the food we share from Cleo's Blue Corn Kitchen

We've been busy being open and curious, moving and laughing, sharing our collective saberes and experience of toxicity and health.

Cultivating joy from the heart through dance and music.

iLAND